Marília Bulhões was born in Natal, Brazil. She developed her technique of abstract painting amid the rich universe of Northeast Brazil and has continued to cultivate her craft while living in several countries in the last 15 years. While abroad, Bulhões took opportunities to further hone her artistic education: from 2003 to 2006, she studied at the Corcoran College of Art and Design in Washington, DC and at The Art Students League of New York. Her works have been included in many solo and group exhibitions around the world. She currently lives in Washington, DC.
